

Family Engagement in Research Certificate of Completion Program

Course Details

This course is for researchers (graduate student trainees, research coordinators, investigators, etc.) and families (parents and siblings) who have an interest in child neurodevelopmental research. This unique course brings together researchers and families in a fully integrated online course.

Learners will gain a better understanding of:

- Family partnership in research (why is it important)
- How to partner with families throughout the research process
- Barriers/facilitators to partnership
- Ethics surrounding partnership
- Tools and resources to support and evaluate partnership activities

By the end of the course, learners will be ready to partner on integrated research teams.

Course Dates

Fall Cohort:
Sept 21 – Nov 29, 2020

Winter Cohort:
Jan 18 – Mar 28, 2021

Course Location & Length

- Online via McMaster Continuing Education Program
- 10 weeks (30 hours)

Course Completion

Earn a McMaster University/CanChild/Kids Brain Health Network Certificate of Completion

To apply:

Please complete the following registration form:

<https://is.gd/FERcoursereregistration>